JOINT PRESS RELEASE

Toronto, Canada, March 28, 2003-New Bullet Group Inc. (NBG) and Stroud Resources Ltd. (SDR) jointly announce a temporary suspension of their 3 hole-1200 meter drilling program at their Santo Domingo property (Mexico), in order to review more appropriate drilling technology for drilling through highly fractured and blocky hanging wall rock encountered to date during diamond drilling activities.

Diamond drilling activities to date on the property have consisted of collaring two holes on the surface area of the hanging wall rock designed to penetrate the mineralized zone some 300 meters below a previous intersection to demonstrate mineralized zone continuity at depth.

The first collared hole was drilled 200 meters in length into highly fractured and blocky ground before the drill stem sheared above the core barrel and the hole was lost. The second collared hole was drilled 85 meters in length in similar ground before the drill stem suffered a similar fate. During drilling there was no return of drill water due to ground conditions.

As a result of the drill operating conditions noted, alternate drilling technology will be evaluated prior to resuming drilling activities.
